

Credit Card Clients Data Report

December 12, 2022

All data labeled "differentially private" in this document satisfies differential privacy for $\epsilon=0.1$ by sequential composition

1 Statistics

1.1 Basic Averages

The following statistics were all generated using the sparse vector technique to determine a clipping parameter for the data, and then generating differentially private sums and counts to find a differentially private average.